Coleham Chronicle

Best News of the Week!

Today, On-the-spot author Jake Evans is coming to Coleham to tell one of his amazing tales. Mr Evans has not, as far as we know, written any actual books. His stories are all verbally told and so he either keeps them in his head or just makes them up on the spot! His most popular verbal story is 'The Bat-Bird' which is about a small bat who is jeered at because it is not very colourful. We are extremely privileged to have Mr Evans coming and are very excited.

Sport News

On Thursday, some Yr 6s [and maybe Yr 5s] went with Mr Halford to a Tag Rugby Tournament. The fantastic team won 3 of their games, drew 1 but were unfortunately beaten in their semi-finals game by Oak Meadow. Although the tournament took most of the day, the children were still able to dress up in their chosen costumes for World Book Day. Great work, team!

Teacher of the week

This week the winner is... Mrs Butler for stepping in to teach Giraffes class in Year 6 on World Book Day 2025. The usual teacher, Mrs Morgan, was at an important meeting. The class learnt English, Maths, Geography and went to collect their free books at the end of the day. A brilliant day!
